

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S HOUSING SHORTAGE THROUGH THE EYES OF AN ARIZONAN

Source: Timo Saarela/Los Angeles Tenants Union

Deirdre
Pfeiffer

Associate Professor

School of Geog. Sciences and Urban Planning

Arizona State University

THE WORRISOME

Sky-high rents and home prices are making it hard for Southern California businesses to attract workers

By ANDREW KHOURI FEB 22, 2018 | 2:40 PM

WHY LOCALS IN HISTORIC FILIPINOTOWN ARE BRACING FOR GENTRIFICATION
JENNIFER VELEZ • FEBRUARY 26, 2018 • FEATURED • NEWS • POLITICS

California's housing crunch has turned liberals against one another

On one side are liberals who are against further construction and development; on the other are liberals who want more affordable housing and shorter commutes.

by James Rainey / Feb. 28, 2018 / 7:51 AM ET

THE BAD

High housing costs are driving out lower-income Californians, reports say

By ANDREW KHOURI MAY 03, 2018 | 3:30 PM

California Housing Crisis:
Working But On The Brink Of Homelessness

April 16, 2018 - 12:13 PM ET

KIRK SIEGLER

LINDA WANG

Revival of a blighted South L.A. neighborhood is stalled by its onetime dentist, critics say

By DOUG SMITH MAR 10, 2018 | 3:00 AM

THE APOCALYPTIC

In shadow of San Andreas fault, hundreds of Inland Empire buildings face collapse in huge earthquake

By ROSANNA XIA, RONG-GONG LIN II and RAOUL RAÑO FEB 09, 2018 | 8:35 AM

Homelessness Outside in America

At night on Skid Row, nearly 2,000 homeless people share just nine toilets

A new report outlines an 'awful' lack of bathroom facilities, affecting the health and dignity of residents at the sprawling LA homeless encampment

California exodus gathers strength, as home prices
continue upward march

By Andrea Riquier

Published: June 1, 2018 4:33 p.m. ET

IMPLOSION IMMINENT?

Source: 20th Century Fox